

FARMERS CLOSE TO CIVILIZATION

A Successful Rural Telephone Line in Operation at East Troy, Wis.

SYSTEM WILL GO

It Offers Attractions for Rural Life Which Are Altogether Envisable.

TOUCH WITH WORLD

John D. McLeod, of Milwaukee, general manager of the Wisconsin Telephone company, was in East Troy, Walworth county last week making an inspection of the telephone system established there, for the benefit of the farmers of Walworth county by H. C. Hackney, under the name of the Walworth County Telephone company.

Will Be Extended. Experiments along this line have been attempted before, but this is the first successful attempt ever made to provide the rural districts with first-class telephone service at a nominal rate. Mr. McLeod has a firm belief that the use of the telephone among farmers should become universal and will tend to promote closer business and social relations among them.

No definite plan has yet been arranged to extend similar systems to other counties, but this seems to be but a matter of a few months' time. In speaking of the visit to East Troy Mr. McLeod said:

Farmers in Touch With World. "Telephone development, as we find it in East Troy, leads to the belief that with labor saving machinery, daily mail delivery, and the intimacy that their telephone system gives them with each other and with the affairs of the world at large, rural life, in Troy township at least, offers attractions which are altogether envisable. "The exchange was opened for business Oct. 10, and the perfection of the system demonstrated by a palm garden concert with which all the people of this city are familiar given simultaneously to all of its subscribers. By connection with the lines of the Wisconsin company every point in the state may be reached, and all other long distance points throughout the country are available. The conversation of the whole township into such neighborly relations is unique, and its promoters, having in view extensive development along the same lines are closely observant of its true value—that is, its real necessity to the farmers, and as to the stability of their investments.

Evening Spent in Gossip. "The calls run very high from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 3 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, very much after the character of the business men in cities. But the busiest time of all which is from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening, denotes the restful, gossiping hours, and I esteem it as one of the most encouraging signs. This is quite unlike the business of cities where relatively little is done after the close of business. The calls through the small hours of the night, relate almost wholly to the cares of the physician.

"In the first ten days, when the farmers were getting acquainted with the system, the calls at no time exceeded 275, but from day to day this increased, until we are now averaging 450 calls. And here is another thing that the farmer appreciates a good thing when he sees it: The toll business originating from this township has increased over the corresponding month of last year, before the Wisconsin company had this connection, 440 per cent. "Remoteness of Folk Removed. "As a business enterprise, therefore Mr. Hackney's confidence is supported by the universal demands on the lines for economic and social purposes. The extraordinary use of the lines after the working day is over (some fifty calls per hour) is evidence that the tedium of the farm, and that sense of remoteness, will be largely overcome by the use of the telephone.

"For the consideration of $1.25 a month the subscribers have unlimited intercourse with all other users in the township, and for a limited fee with every other township, village or city in the state. The farmer hereafter will be fully abreast of the times—in touch with the home markets and all living questions—he will buy and sell more intelligently and live a broader social life."

PROGRESS OF THE WAR IN SAMAR

Insurgent Leader Lukban Refuses to Negotiate Until Soldiers Leave Gandara Valley.

Manila, Nov. 11.—According to advices from Samar the insurgent leader Lukban has sent a message to General Smith declaring that he will not listen to negotiations for surrender until all of the Americans have withdrawn from the Gandara valley.

General Smith has ordered every American soldier in the island of Samar and the island of Leyte never to be without arms, even at mealtime. He is determined that there shall be no more surprises, and commanding officers will be held responsible.

General Smith also directed that scouting must continue incessantly and that all rice and hemp captured must be destroyed. He considers the capture of Lukban only a question of a short time.

outed by the Americans

Manila, Nov. 1.—A force of insurgents attacked the garrison at Abra Dellog yesterday but were routed by the Americans who were at breakfast when the attack was made. The Filipinos left five dead, one American was seriously wounded.

General Smith's recent order that the American soldiers should always have arms with them was responsible for the speedy repulse of the rebels and the prevention of another Balagan massacre.

Major Pitcher of the First infantry, commanding the Mindoro expedition, reports an attack. He says that he recently captured almost an entire insurgent company fully armed. As the men killed in yesterday's attack were also well armed and fully supplied with ammunition it is believed that the insurgents have recently received supplies of ammunition.

HOT FIGHT ON VICE IN MILWAUKEE; PREACHERS REPROVE WICKED TOWN

Stall Saloons Are Numerous, and the City is Run "Wide Open"—Thirty-Two Gambling Houses.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 11.—Nearly every Protestant pulpit in the city last night arraigned the city administration for the carnival of vice which is declared to be reigning in this city. All of them ministers declared there never was a time in the history of the city when it was as "wide open" as it is now. They do not blame the police as they all stated that so far as the investigation which they made shows the police are not profiting by the prevalence of vice but are compelled to close their eyes to crime because of the attitude of Mayor Rose and those in high places. The sermons were based upon an investigation on vice in Milwaukee which was made for the minister's association. All of the ministers quote liberally from this report, which was in part as follows:

"We have made inquiries of men familiar with the city's condition, yet we do not profess to have reached the sunken depths of vice and iniquity in this great city. Suppressed groans from the agony of crime, whiffs of stench from rotten corruption have saddened us, but we have not been in the whirl and cannot take you there.

CERTAIN DEATH FOR MISS STONE; BRIGANDS PLAN TO MURDER HER

Sofia Report Persists That the Captives Have Already Been Slain to Seal Their Lips—American Consul Learns of Bloody Plans.

Sofia, Nov. 11.—Miss Ellen M. Stone's life is to be sacrificed, even though the ransom demanded by the brigands be paid. If the plan of the outlaw captain, Yanne Sandansky, is carried out. As soon as the money is placed within reach of the brigands the captive American missionary and her companion, Mme. Talika, are to be murdered.

There is a persistent rumor afloat here to the effect that Miss Stone is already dead, but officials can get no positive proof.

Consul Dickinson, who is in Sofia and doing everything possible to effect the release of Miss Stone, has obtained knowledge of the brigand's plan to murder her. He is bound to prevent her death under such circumstances. He has sent word to the brigands that not one penny of the ransom will be paid until Miss Stone is delivered safe into the hands of authorities that can guarantee her future safety to the American government. He refuses to pay the ransom in advance of her surrender, as desired by the brigand captain.

Reports come from Dubnitz to the effect that the brigands are heaping sufferings upon Miss Stone and Mme. Talika. The outlaws are fretting under the delay in securing the ransom. They blame Miss Stone for this and to make her tractable they are forcing her to submit to all sorts of indignities in the hope that she will induce the Americans interested in her behalf to pay over the money without further guaranty than the word of the outlaws themselves that they will deliver her at a certain spot.

ABEL BARLOW IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Another Rock County Pioneer Settler Called Home—Entire County Grieves for Him.

Yesterday morning at seven o'clock death claimed another of Rock county's pioneer settlers and prominent residents, and Abel Barlow crossed over the borderland into the eternal city of peace. His death occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Spoon, 108 Terrace street and brought him blessed release from the intense suffering of his disease. Mr. Barlow had noticed symptoms of the trouble for the past two years but his final illness was of short duration. He was able to be on the streets until about two weeks ago and since that time he failed rapidly until death came. All hope of his recovery was abandoned Saturday morning and it was thought that he could not live through the day.

The entire county will be shocked and grieved by his death for Abel Barlow was one of the most prosperous, widely known and highly respected farmers of southern Wisconsin. He was sixty-nine years of age, having been born in Fairfield, Vt. March 19, 1832. In the fall of '52, when he was twenty years of age, he came to Wisconsin with his parents and settled on the farm in the town of Plymouth, seven miles west of Janesville. He made his home continually on that same farm until a few months before his death, with the exception of two years when he lived in this city.

On the 29th of December, 1856, he was united in marriage with Miss Emily D. Wiggins, who shared his joys and sorrows for twenty-two years until she was called to her heavenly home, November 22, 1878. On the 8th of June, 1880, Mr. Barlow married again his wife being Mrs. Maria Frost Bryan, who survives him and shared with his daughters the loving task of caring for him tenderly during his last illness.

Some time ago Mr. Barlow retired from active life and last summer he and his wife broke up housekeeping and came to this city, intending to visit their children for a time. Mrs. Barlow is mother of Mrs. W. W. Porter and she and her husband had spent the past few months at the home of Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Spoon. Mr. and Mrs. Barlow were planning a trip to Arizona where three of Mr. Barlow's sons live, and expected to start on their journey in the near future.

Mr. Barlow was a man of strict business integrity and sterling character. During his long residence in the county he won the confidence and trust of all who were associated with him and he enjoyed the warm personal friendship of some of the most prominent men in the city and throughout the county. By his own merit he won a high place in the esteem of his fellow men and he leaves to his bereaved ones the rich legacy of a respected name.

Of the seven children born to Abel and Emily D. Barlow, six survive to mourn the loss of a beloved father. They are the four sons, Edward E. Gage E., and Glenn A. Barlow, of Tempe, Arizona, and Harry O. Barlow, who resides on the home farm, and two daughters, Luella, wife of F. A. Spoon of this city, and Miss L. Barlow of Milwaukee. Miss Barlow has been here for the past week assisting in the care of her father. The sons in Arizona were telegraphed for Saturday and are on their way to this city. The funeral arrangements will probably not be completed until their arrival.

An autopsy performed on the late Abel Barlow revealed the fact that the disease from which he suffered and which caused his death was a stomach trouble but was not a cancer.

Using the Two Officers as a Shield They Escape the Clutches of Nine Policemen.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 11.—Sheriff Cook of this county and Deputy Sheriff Williams were captured by two escaped convicts from the Leavenworth penitentiary yesterday afternoon at Pauline, five miles south of Topeka and held prisoners in a farmhouse for several hours.

The officers got on the trail of the convicts blundered into the house, without waiting for reinforcements for which they had telephoned, were disarmed and held prisoners with the farmer and his wife. The convicts threatened to kill the officers if any attempt at capture was made, marched out of the house between two rows of police, who had arrived from Topeka, and using the prisoners as shields, tramped away, jeering at the police, and are now at large.

Both the convicts were slightly wounded, and Farmer Wooster, in Paris, Nov. 11.—A dispatch from Mitylene Island, seized by Caillard's squadron, states that the French squadron, with the exception of one torpedo boat has sailed from the island. Sultan Smoothes It Over. Constantinople, Nov. 11.—The Sultan's efforts are now directed toward preserving a good front before his subjects after his back down to France. The government is more ridiculed than praised.

The French foreign office has announced that the Sultan has signed an irade for the execution of his engagements with the French government, and that the Franco Turkish dispute is now at an end.

The Figaro, commenting upon the situation, says:

"The sudden news of such a retreat is not calculated to reassure us. On the contrary it makes us believe in hidden dangers."

A writer in the Ecclair says that from the moment the word protectorate was uttered France was confronted no longer by Abdul Hamid, but by William II.

NOTES AND NEWS OF THE CHURCHES.

A large congregation enjoyed an interesting church service at the Presbyterian church last evening, when Rev. J. T. Henderson preached the closing sermon of a series on the Bible. The series, which has formed the center of the evening services for several Sundays past, has been unusually profitable and Rev. Henderson's congregations have found much helpfulness in his excellent thoughts on the various subdivisions of the general subject.

Rev. Henderson chose "The Bible as a Guide" as the topic for the concluding sermon, finding his text in Psalms 119, 105, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."

When a stranger visits a large city where he can spend only a short time and desires to make the best possible use of his time he purchases a guide book. In starting out on his journey it is well to make inquiry and see if there is any guide which will help one in traveling the wilderness. We often see men miss their way and make mistakes. Life is beset with many dangers. Sometimes there are many confusing cross roads and there are places where there are no cross roads at all and man must blaze a pathway for himself like the pioneers. Is there anything which will make life safe and lead us certainly through all dangers.

It is always well to quote authority. Good authority in court always outweighs oratorical ability and fine rhetoric. In considering the Bible as a guide for every day life much excellent authority may be quoted, the testimonies of eminent men whose word on any other subject would never be doubted. The argument is often used that scientists are disbelievers in the Bible and yet one well-known professor at Yale, in making a farewell address to a class of graduates, asked them to remember that whenever they were in doubt over the conflicting theories of scientists they could always place reliance on whatever they found in the word of God. When men claim that scientists refute the Bible it is well to remember Dana, Isaac Newton, Agassiz, Drummond and others. Put these scientists, whose lives have been guided by the Bible, in the balance against those who are opposed to the Bible and see if the balance is not in favor of the scientists who are believers.

Daniel Webster once said: "If there is aught of eloquence in me it is because I learned the Scriptures at my mother's knee." No modern man has ever been gifted to state truth more logically than Paul and Lord Bacon said that there is no philosophy sweeter than that of the Bible. It is in and of itself a liberal education yet it is denied a place in the public schools. On his death bed Walter Scott said: "There is but one book the Bible." Great men have found that from the cradle to the grave it lacks nothing necessary for their guidance.

Its value is shown by what it has accomplished. At the beginning of the eighteenth century there were only three openly professed Christians at Yale. Today in the same college the Christians outnumber the unbelievers and religion is a strong factor at Yale. The beginning of the eighteenth century was the age of scoffing. About that time Voltaire was uttering his blasphemies and boasting that he would go through the Christian forest and girdle the trees until not even a sapling would remain.

He did go through the forest and he girdled many trees. In a natural forest, after trees have been girdled, many of the strong ones survive and are as mighty and powerful as though they had never been touched by an axe. So it is with the word of God. Men have gone through it, attacking truths, which are the truths of spiritual life, and thinking they have killed it but it is just as virile and just as highly prized today as it was when it was written, centuries ago. This means a great deal in a day when of making books there is no end. Still there has never been a book that could compare with the Bible.

An editor of a literary magazine went to the head of the book department in Siegel & Cooper's big New York store to find out what novel had been most popular during the year 1900. During the year, 300,000 copies of Ben Hur had been sold and 250,000 copies of a popular novel but the salesman said that he had sold two Morocco bound Bibles to every copy of Ben Hur, which meant that over 600,000 high priced Bibles had been sold at a department store where one would scarcely expect people to go for Bibles.

This means that men are not losing confidence in the word of God as a guide. It is not only a guide for individuals but for nations. Point to the strong nations of the earth which are growing in power and among the number there is not one which does not owe its power to the Bible. One hundred years ago, Lord Chesterfield said that England was only using the Bible and Christianity as a temporary makeshift until something better could be found.

Yet Christianity was never stronger in England than it is today. The Bible has stood for ages past and it will stand for ages to come. It is a guide for men who are seeking honestly and earnestly for something to lead them safely through life's temptation. If we want the children of the country to drink that which will make them strong give them the milk of the gospel. It has been a guide which has piloted safely thousands upon thousands of men who have sounded back its value from the gates of death. As a guide in the temptations and sorrows of life, nothing is to be compared with it. The prophecy of agnostics concerning its downfall has not come true but the prophecies of the Bible written centuries ago stand today. The word of God stands like a veritable Gibraltar. The waves which beat against it fall back on themselves but it towers grandly above them, piloting men safely over life's tempestuous sea.

The musical service which preceded the sermon was very fine. The Boys' choir under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Abbott, sang an anthem sweetly and Miss Abbott sang "Hear Us" by Sudds, exquisitely. The organ voluntary for the offertory selection was also beautiful, Mrs. J. F. Sweeney playing Gounod's "Serenade."

ENTHUSIASTIC CONVERTS

There are Thousands of Them Who Believe as This Woman Does.

Mrs. Ira Knowlton, of Butte, Montana, is a most enthusiastic convert to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as a cure for obstinate stomach trouble. She says: "I had poor digestion nearly all my life. It now seems to me that for years I never knew what it was to be hungry, to have a good natural appetite.

"I was troubled with gas in stomach, causing pressure on the heart with palpitation and short breath. Nearly everything I ate soured on my stomach, sometimes I had cramps in the stomach which almost resembled spasms.

"Doctors told me I had catarrh of the stomach, but their medicines would not reach it and I would still be a sufferer had I not, in sheer desperation, decided to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I knew they were an advertised remedy and I didn't believe anything I read about them as I had no confidence in advertised remedies, but my sister living in Pittsburgh wrote me last spring telling me how Stuart's Tablets had cured her little daughters of indigestion and loss of flesh and appetite and I hesitated no longer.

"I bought a fifty cent box at my drug store and took two of the large tablets after each meal and found them delightful to take, being as pleasant to the taste as caramel candy. Whenever during the day or night I felt any pain or uneasiness in the stomach or about the heart I took one of the small tablets and in three weeks it seemed to me as if I had never known what stomach trouble was.

"I keep Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the house and every member of our family uses them occasionally after a hearty meal or when any of us have a pain or ache in the digestive organs."

Mr. E. H. Davis of Hampton, Va., says: "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets than in five years of the doctors' treatment."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, bloating after meals, sympathetic heart trouble.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a cheap cathartic but an active digestive remedy containing the pepsin and diastase which every weak stomach lacks, and they cure stomach troubles because they digest the food eaten, and give the weak, abused, over-worked stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

M'KINLEY PICTURES BY THE KINODROME

Manager Myers of the Myers Grand announces that he has completed arrangements with the moving picture company, operating the picture machine, The Kinodrome, for an early appearance in this city to produce all the scenes and incidents concerning President McKinley at the Pan-American Exposition and a complete series of the funeral ceremonies at Buffalo, Washington and Canton, as secured by The Kinodrome cameras, incidental to these events. The Kinodrome was a work at the Pan-American Exposition during President McKinley's entire visit. These pictures have created intense excitement and interest, and together with the scenes photographed, subsequently, of the funeral ceremonies at Buffalo, Washington and Canton, which are complete in every detail, and now being exhibited by the Kinodrome in all the leading vaudeville theaters in the country, are of a tremendous interest to the people.

Recognizing the eager desire of those who are unable to go to the city theaters to witness these interesting scenes the Kinodrome company have arranged to put on exhibition, in the most complete manner, on tour. In connection with the President McKinley pictures, the Kinodrome will offer moving pictures of the great International yacht race, showing start and finish of Columbia-Shamrock contest, and also all of the latest and most startling animated pictures known in motion photography.

Fear United States.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The amazing growth of the influence of the United States in Europe and the importance which is attached to its steady intrusion into the commercial prerogatives of European nations is made abundantly manifest in a graphic report of the fear of the United States which is daily haunting Germany sent to the state department by Consul General Frank Mason, American representative at Berlin. Mr. Mason affirms that Germany realizes that the United States are being forced into a position of universal domination, and that the older generation of statesmen and financiers anticipated that the power of the United States before many years will be that of absolute sovereign; in that it will be universal arbitrator of all international disputes.

Unable to Kill Elephant.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 11.—After nearly 3,000 persons had paid 50 cents each to see the electrocution of Bostock's alleged vicious elephant, Jumbo II., in the Pan-American stadium, several prominent citizens of Buffalo requested that Mr. Bostock, in the name of decency, prevent a public electrocution. Bostock immediately refunded the gate receipts and announced that the elephant would be electrocuted privately. At 5 o'clock Jumbo II. was placed in the "death harness," and, slightly tickled by 2,200 volts of electricity, Jumbo never winced. The announcement was later made that the elephant had withstood 11,000 volts and had not been affected. Mr. Bostock now says that he will exhibit Jumbo II. at the Charleston exposition.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. ## WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

HARMONY ECHOES.

"There is danger from such men as Pfister and Payne. There is danger to the business interests, both corporate and private, of the state of Wisconsin. For the fierce strife that these men have aroused in their desire to rule cannot but result in a wave of popular resentment against the innocent members of the wealthy class whom they pretend to represent. It means a reign of 'populism' born of imbecile agitation by silk stocking anarchists."—La Crosse Chronicle.

This is the sort of twaddle that Wisconsin republicans are asked to swallow with complacency, and is one of the planks of the harmony platform. If the republican party has descended to the level of this kind of journalism, it is time to call a halt and take account of stock.

The La Crosse Chronicle, like the Milwaukee Free Press and Marinette Star, is an organ of the administration. It is supposed to voice the sentiments of the governor and the men who believe him to be infallible. Every issue of the three papers is filled with this class of rot, called editorial expression. Character is assailed and maligned with reckless abandon, in the name of republican journalism. It is a libel on the profession and a disgrace to the state.

The republican party is asked to harmonize with this class of disreputable blatherskites, by joining their ranks and classing such men as Henry C. Payne and Charles Pfister as "silk stocking anarchists." It will be a cold day when their ambitions are realized, and a sorry day for the state if it is ever abandoned to this class of leaders.

If Governor La Follette has any influence with his journalistic lieutenants, he should have a conference with them and give them a little friendly advice. If he does not care for results and is willing to encourage dissension and strife in the ranks of the party, to which he is indebted for office, he can accomplish all sorts of results by keeping his hands off and permitting his fool friends to go the whole length of the rope.

Mr. Payne and Mr. Pfister are life-long republicans. They not only believe in the principles of the party, but they practice what they believe. They are in close touch with the conservative element of the party throughout the state, and an insult to them, such as is contained in the paragraph quoted, is an insult to every loyal republican in the state.

The Gazette resents the attack, and expresses popular party sentiment in saying that if harmony is to be purchased by such methods, give us a free field and an open fight. When a little coterie of paid organs, assume to dictate the policy of the party, and attempt to whip into line by personal abuse and slander every man who don't agree with them, it is time to remove the mask and look behind the scenes.

If the governor is in sympathy with this kind of campaigning, the days of his political career are numbered.

JUDGE JEROME OF NEW YORK.

The New York City campaign was enlivened by the presence and active candidacy of Judge Jerome, a reform candidate who made for himself a national reputation at a single bound, working, not through methods usually employed by ward politicians, but selecting for his battleground the resorts of the famous "400," and in scathing terms denouncing them as hypocrites, not entitled to decent burial.

The judge started out on the war path without consulting leaders or managers as to what methods he should pursue. He had been identified with club life and was not a stranger to New York aristocracy. The shallowness and insincerity of people who professed to be leaders, not only in society, but in morals as well, so impressed him, that he could not longer remain silent, and when the reform campaign was inaugurated he grasped the opportunity, and without fear or favor proceeded to unmask hypocrisy in high places.

His methods were so vigorous and his denunciations so scathing, that he was called the "whirlwind" candidate. His earnestness and honesty were so impressive, that the man became a tower of strength, and while bitterly opposed from both without and within, he won for himself a personal victory, so unique, that all New York was amazed.

Judge Jerome is a reformer of the practical sort. He wastes no time in theorizing, or talking over the heads of people. He speaks in such earnestness, and with such telling effect, that the masses have confidence in him, and when the vote is analyzed it will be found that he was elected by the poor man's vote.

The country needs more party leaders of this class. Men who are as honest and sincere in politics, as in business or religion. Men who are genuine reformers, without pretension or loud profession. Men who possess the ability to handle public questions from the standpoint of human experience, based on knowledge gained by observation, and close contact with humanity. Men who put into politics the same zeal and fervor that they put into a prayer addressed to Deity, inspired not only by hope of reward, but by more lofty ambition, a desire to help and bless humanity.

When party leaders are leavened with a liberal sprinkling of this class of men, corruption will disappear, and the title "politician" will be no longer a by-word.

Judge Jerome may not be possessed of political ambition. He don't have to be, New York as well as all other cities, has need of such men, and they are not long in waiting, before public sentiment calls them to the front, and loads them with responsibility. The judge will be heard from in the haunts of Tammany.

COMMENDABLE WORK.

The November "Outlook" contains an article on "The Bible and the Immigrant," that is worthy of notice. It is based on the report of the New York bible society, and says that Ernst Jackson, the immigrant agent of the society, has spent his time at Ellis Island, where 816 vessels have landed 410,107 immigrants. Many of them are ignorant, and many who could read, had never owned a bible. Mr. Jackson gave to this class 22,000 volumes of scripture, representing twenty-one languages.

A large percentage of these foreigners remain in New York and many of them become voters before they can read the language of the country. Agents of the bible society also visited 1,044 vessels in the harbor and gave to the sailors about 9,000 bibles. Their work included calls on 84,000 families, many of whom were without a bible.

The "Outlook" very truthfully says "such work deserves richly the support and encouragement of all good people."

Twenty-one languages represents as many nations. 400,000 people, and this is somewhere near the average, year after year, means the population of a large city every year, and it means a small republic numerically, every ten years. A large majority of the representatives of this mixed population come to our shores to better their condition. They become an important part of the body politic soon after they land, and it is always a matter of surprise that this mixed multitude are so readily adjusted to new conditions.

If there is any land under the sun where foreign missionary work is headed, and where every opportunity is not only favorable, but where the work invites, it is in this fair land of America.

The work of the New York bible society should be supplemented by every church in the land, and American citizenship should mean more than naturalization papers, and a free ballot.

Christian civilization owes it to itself, as well as to the nations represented by her children that come to us so freely, to extend the warm hand of welcome.

The influence that travels back across the seas from these foreign representatives is a leverage for either good or evil. If the Christian church controls this influence as it should, the missionaries that go back to carry the glad tidings, will come from the ranks of the 400,000 who have learned by happy experience that Christianity is not a myth, and that Christian civilization has found its best estate on American soil.

It is possible, under the impulse of enthusiasm, to overlook the important work at our own door, and neglect the American foreigner, in a frantic effort to save his brother, thousands of miles away.

HOW ABOUT SEWERAGE?

The mayor says he don't know. The matter is in the hands of a committee.

The committee have made divers and sundry investigations, but are still in the sewer.

They have never made a report, and so far as known, have never been asked to do so.

They are doubtless at a loss how to report to. Responsibility is sometimes embarrassing.

The mayor is of the opinion that in a few years the city will be supplied with private sewers, and that will end the discussion.

If this bright thought had occurred to the tax payers last spring, the embarrassment of a vote on the question would have been avoided.

The people thought they wanted a sewerage system, but they hadn't any right to think so. The people seldom know what they want.

A dozen men elected for the purpose are much better able to determine what the people want, than the people themselves. It was all a mistake. We don't want sewers, a city hall and library will fill the bill.

ransom. That kind of business does not require ability or a very large amount of skill. But when France shows her teeth behind a gunboat, conditions are different, and the Turk comes down like a gentleman.

Minnesota is making inroads on the Wisconsin football team. If the good weather continues the ambulance corps will be so large that several teams will need to double up.

The game wardens will be busy for the next three months protecting innocent deer from unlicensed sportsmen. The hunter will be busy in shooting each other by accident.

PRESS COMMENT.

Whitewater Register: Even Carl Schurz's support of Seth Low could not defeat him.

Delavan Republican: Hereafter there will be no beating of swords into plowshares without the consent of the plow trust.

Evening Wisconsin: Since France set out with gunboats to raise the wind, drafts from Turkey have been coming her way.

Marquette Eagle: A company has been formed in New York to exploit liquified air. The air here has been considerably liquified lately.

Superior Telegram: Cummins is elected governor of Iowa by a majority that discounts all predictions. What has become of "The Epworth League of the Northwest" that duly resolved to defeat him?

Elkhorn Independent: Republican victories by big majorities at Tuesday's elections show that President Roosevelt and his party are endorsed by the public. Even Maryland is in doubt, and may prove a republican victory.

Racine Journal: What is the sense of some papers saying the stalwarts were throwing rocks at the governor because of his resuming business again at Madison and showed their displeasure at his recovery from a long illness? It is this sort of thing that causes that tired feeling.

Portage Register, Rep.: The Milwaukee Journal makes it rather warm for the few papers which attempt to explain the very low price for special train service granted to Gov. La Follette during the campaign. It is a subject—like the Haugen speech—about which the less said by the administration papers, the better.

Fond du Lac Reporter: And now the republican papers—including the Oshkosh Northwestern—are calling it a free train that Governor La Follette used in campaigning the state. This admission on the part of the Northwestern, and some lesser lights, absolves all doubt as to who put the chip on the governor's shoulder when he defeated the "boys" at the nomination convention.

Walworth County Republican: The Delavan Enterprise in referring to a candidate for governor, says: "But down in this neck-o-the-woods where republican majorities are counted by the thousands, an idea prevails that there is also an 'ideal candidate' living right in our midst, and the first two letters of his name are Hon. J. M. Whitehead, of Rock county. Whether Mr. Whitehead is, or will be, a candidate for governor, we are unable to state, but should he be there is not a shadow of a doubt but that Walworth county would to a man rally to his support, and that too with a vim that no man can mistake. We know the stuff he is made of, and it comes so near to the 'ideal' that no Walworth county republican could be swerved to a hair's breadth in his devotion to him even with a force pump of jack screws. That is about how we all feel concerning the next republican nominee for governor."

No More Beer. A teacher in the Dallas County public school has received the following letter:

"Sir: Will you in the future give my son easier some to do at nites? This is what he's brought home two or three nites back: 'If fore gallons of here will fill thirty to pint bottles how many pints and half-bottles will nine gallons of here fill?'"

"Well, we tried and could make nothin' of it, at all, and my boy cried and laughed and sed he didn't dare to go back in the mornin' without doin' it. So I had to go and buy a nine gallon keg of here, which I could ill afford to do, and then he went and borrowed a lot of wine and brandy bottles; we fill them and my boy put the number down for an answer, I don't know whether it is right or not, as we split some while doin' it."

"P. S.—Please let the next some be in water, as I am not able to buy more 'here.'—Mobile Daily Register.

LED BLINDFOLDED THROUGH CITY; UNIQUE PROCESSION ON SATURDAY

Ceremony Was the Beginning of an Initiation of Eleven Candidates Into the Mysteries of Laurean Society--High School Girls on a Lark.

Pedestrians on the street Saturday evening shortly after 6 o'clock looked with amazement and wonder at the unusual spectacle of two well known young ladies leading other young ladies, equally well known, blindfolded through the heart of the city. The unique procession moved on, unmindful of the sensation which they had caused, for the ceremony was but the beginning of the initiation of eleven candidates into the mysteries of the Laurean society. The high school girls' debating club.

This society is one of the strongest educational forces in the high school, meeting once a week at the close of the afternoon session for different kinds of rhetorical work, declamation, oratory, essays, the writing of stories and poems and debate. The work is done under the direction of Miss Harriette Holt, who serves the society as critic.

A Season of Feasting. The membership of the society is limited to thirty and at the beginning of each school year a number of new members are admitted to take the places which are left vacant by the graduation of the preceding June. These initiations are always made, a season of feasting and happiness and on initiation night the girls always devote themselves to having the jolliest kind of a time.

Each year the initiation ceremonies are made more elaborate and there is a rumor from the inner circle that Saturday evening's ceremony was the best that ever happened. The festivities took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McKee, 51 Park place, their daughter, Miss Elizabeth, being one of the prominent members of the society.

The strictest secrecy regarding the place of meeting had been maintained, and the initiates had no idea of the evening's program. They were instructed to meet at the high school building at 6 o'clock. Beyond that they knew nothing. They were met at the school by members of the society who promptly bandaged their eyes and instructed them to obey orders implicitly.

Led Through the City. Then they were led through the city, guided into prominent places of business, made to order groceries of furniture dealers and pink silk of grocers, and finally taken by a circuitous route, which included a tour of the park, to the McKee home. They were led into the cellar, where in a room especially prepared for the occasion they became acquainted with all the Laurean secrets.

It was a very solemn occasion, but the older members of the society seemed possessed with a perverse spirit of merriment and hilarity. The season of darkness and solemn mystery over, the new members were ushered into the brightness and cheerfulness of the rooms above, where the oath of the society was taken at the white altar, decorated with ferns and pink carnations and prettily arranged in the plant parlor. Pink is the color of the Laurean society and the carnation is their flower, and the decorations were happily appropriate. Great bunches of large pink carnations lent beauty and fragrance to the scene and ferns and smilax were used harmoniously and effectively.

Then Followed a Banquet. The initiation concluded, the young ladies adjourned to the banquet table, about half after nine o'clock. The long table had been laid in two rooms extending through the wide doorway. The curtain pole in the doorway furnished the support for the central table decorations and wide pink ribbons were looped to it from the four corners of the table and festoons of smilax hung from it. Beneath the graceful vines, an immense bunch of pink carnations stood in the center of the table and when nearly forty bright-faced maidens gathered around the festal board, the picture was indeed one of attractive beauty.

The members of the society were pleased to have with them Saturday evening, Miss Marguerite Samuels, of Madison, Miss Florence Palmer, who is attending the University of Wisconsin and Miss Alice Estes, all of whom were formerly Laurean members.

An Elegant Supper. The banquet which the society had prepared was an elegant one and it was faultlessly served in four courses by six members of the society, the waitresses being Misses Isabelle Menzies, Coral Bonesteel, Grace Ryan, Anna De Forest, Daisy MacLean and Winifred Fife. The following was the menu:

Menu:
Creamed Potatoes. Sandwiches.
Olives. Cold Tongue. Pickles.
Fruit Jelly. Salted Almonds.
Coffee.

Fruit Salad. Wafers.
Lemon Ice. Cake.
Pink Cream. Patties.
Program of Toasts.

After the banquet came the program of toasts, Miss May Buckmaster presiding charmingly as toastmistress and finding opportunity for many clever hits in her introductions. Miss Eureka Kimball welcomed the new members very prettily and Miss Elizabeth Wilcox, one of the initiates, was called on without warning to give the response. She proved equal to the occasion, though her response was brief.

An excellent toast on "Society Friendships" was given by Miss Ella Sutherland and then Miss Libby Gravelly made the gathering laugh with the puns with which she filled her toast, "Our New Members." Miss Ida Green, one of the new members was called on for an extemporaneous response and made it very nicely, after which Miss Harriette Holt gave an interesting talk on the "Forecast for the Year," outlining the work which the society expects to do and the duties which members owe to the society.

Flash Light Pictures. After the program Mr. McKee took some flash light pictures of the company. The entire occasion was a very happy one and the members of the society feel indebted to Miss McKee for the pleasure of meeting at her spacious home and to the members of the amusement committee, who had charge of the evening's program. The young ladies of the committee are Misses Mary Buckmaster, Elizabeth McKee, Belle MacLean and Josephine Treat.

The new members of the society with one exception are all Freshmen. They are Misses Clara Jones, Grace Winterroth, Ethel Fife, Ruth Fife, Lucy Fox, Edna Bladen, Elizabeth Wilcox, Isabelle Smith, Robena Keller, Ida Green and Ethel Bates.

INMAN OFFERS REWARD. Will Pay $1,000 To Anyone Proving That Ice Sold Here Was Not Cut at Crystal Lake.

Certain local parties have made statements of late to the effect that the ice disposed of in Janesville last summer by J. E. Inman was not cut from Crystal Lake. If these parties will now come to the front and prove their statements Mr. Inman will reward them with $1,000 for their trouble. To a Gazette man Mr. Inman said:

"Parties who say that ice sold by me last summer was not cut at Crystal Lake make false statements. Every pound of ice sold by me last summer was cut by the Knickerbocker ice company at Crystal Lake. Next summer I expect a larger amount of business than ever and each day adds new customers to my fast growing list."

A Happy Gathering. On Saturday evening for the second time last week, the home of Mrs. Victor P. Richardson, 101 St. Lawrence place, was the scene of a happy gathering of ladies, the occasion being a six o'clock tea at which Mrs. Richardson and her sister-in-law, Miss Sarah Richardson, were the charming hostesses. The company was a very large one, over one hundred ladies enjoying the evening as guests. An elegant three course supper was served in the parlors which were handsomely decorated with carnations and chrysanthemums, the hostesses being assisted in serving their guests by Mesdames D. W. Watt, George M. McKey, Hamilton Richardson, Jr., and Edward E. Spaulding, and Misses Josephine Carle, Kate Fife, Marcia Jackman and Emma Richardson.

After tea the evening was pleasantly spent in playing six handed euchre. Mrs. W. G. Wheeler proving most proficient in handling the fascinating pasteboards and winning the handsome first prize. Fate favored Miss Adelle Williams and she became the owner of the lucky number prize.

In Justice Court. Twenty five or eighty cases brought in justice court by the receiver of the Minneapolis Fire and Marine Mutual Insurance company against policy holders in Rock county were called today. They were all adjourned for ninety days with the exception of the case against Edward Rasmussen which was adjourned until December 22 and will be tried before Justice Earle as a test case. The outcome of this case will be eagerly watched by the balance of the defendants in the other cases.

PRICES ATTRACTED CROWDS. Judging from the crowd that filled the Fair store all day Saturday and evening it is quite evident that the citizens of Janesville and Rock county are not slow to realize when this popular store advertises bargain sales. Seven clerks were kept busy from early till late. The Fair advertised for Saturday only 20 pounds of finest granulated sugar for $1 and of this one item alone they disposed of 2,800 pounds.

Will Dougherty Entitled to Vote. The entrance into manhood's estate was celebrated by Will Dougherty last Saturday and his twenty-first birthday was the occasion for a happy gathering of a few of his most intimate young gentleman friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dougherty, 108 Cherry street. The young men were invited to a six o'clock supper and Mrs. Dougherty had prepared an elegant feast of good things for her son and his friends. Ample justice was done the supper nor was sociability permitted to lag in the meantime. The guests presented Mr. Dougherty with a handsome umbrella as a souvenir of the occasion and a reminder of the fact that henceforth he is entitled to vote.

SLAUGHTER OF DEER IN FULL PROGRESS

From Now Until Dec. 1 Accounts of Accidents and Shootings Will Fill the Newspapers.

The slaughter of deer commenced in the northern woods today. From now on until December 1st reports of the number of deer killed and accounts of accidental shooting will be poured into newspapers from the telegraph offices nearest the scene.

Wallace Skinner of this city returned home this morning from a trip to the woods near Rhineland, and reports that he heard before he left of two men being shot last Saturday by careless hunters.

A great many accidents occur from hunters wearing tan colored clothing in the woods and are often mistaken for a deer on that account. A man in the woods at this time of the year should wear black or bright colored clothing like the lumbermen do and this save being taken for a deer.

The 30-30 rifle used by the most of the hunters is also a bad thing. They shoot so far that a man a mile away is not safe from their deadly bullets. There are a great many accidents every fall from hunters being taken for deer, but it is no more than can be expected when the class of city hunters that invade the north woods is taken into consideration. Many of them hardly know the stock of the gun from the barrel. They hardly ever kill a deer but never fail to plug their companion when they shoot at him by mistake.

Mr. A. A. Shekey, who has just returned from a month's hunting trip to Lake Koshkonong is authority for the statement that the shooting laws were continually violated by the hunters at the lake this fall. Although the game wardens made a thorough canvass of all the hunters about the lake Mr. Shekey claims there were many hunters without licenses who made a business of hunting. Scull boats were used to pursue ducks in open water, far beyond the limit the law allows decoys to be set. The hunters claiming that there were rushes there early and that they had been broken down by the high waters.

He claims that there is plenty of celery in the lake near his property, and that it is not on account of food that the ducks leave the lake, but because they are pounded from daylight until dark by hunters in all sorts of boats who do not give them a chance to feed. Up in his end of the lake there was a flock of decoys every few rods and as soon as a flock of ducks settled anywhere near them a hunter in a scull boat was after them.

This fall has demonstrated that the only way to do with scull boat hunters, is to abolish the use of the boat entirely and not allow one on the lake and the law should be made stringent enough that a hunter caught with a boat with a scull hole in it should be made liable to a heavy fine and have his boat destroyed.

The legislature this year fixed the law to allow sculling for a reasonable distance on decoys. The hunters immediately started in to see how they could stretch the distance and soon had the decoys in the center of the lake, with artificial bunches of rushes for cover to evade the law. They were not satisfied with this, but would wait until sundown and would then scull down through the lake shooting as long as they could see and driving the birds off of the lake.

As long as hunters are allowed to use scull boats they will manage to run them all over the lake. A determined effort will be made at the next meeting of the legislature to get a law passed that will abolish the use of the scull boat entirely. This is the only way that the ducks on Lake Koshkonong will ever get any rest.

An Odd Fellows' Social. Members of Janesville City Lodge No. 90 I. O. O. F. and their families will meet for a happy time at West Side Odd Fellows' hall tomorrow evening after the regular session of the lodge. The festivities will begin with an elegant supper in the lodge room hall, after which there will be dancing and a general good time. The social is a private one, being merely one of the family gatherings which makes life in No. 90 Lodge so happy.

Mrs. Ellen Lagermann Funeral. Funeral services for the late Mrs. Ellen Lagermann were held from the home of her son, William Lagermann corner of Pleasant and Pine streets, this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and from St. John's Lutheran church at 2 o'clock. ## Drink Water.

If you do not accustom yourself to drink water regularly, you are liable to have the waste products of the tissues of the body form faster than they are removed. Great weakness and languor on rising in the morning is generally due to a large secretion of these waste products, and the remedy is to drink a tumblerful of water—either hot or cold—just before retiring. This materially assists in the process during the night, and leaves the tissues fresh and strong, ready for the active work of the next day.

Loss by Fire is $40,000.

Arthur, Ill., Nov. 11.—Fire broke out on the east side of Main street at 2 o'clock a. m., destroying all the buildings in one block, causing a loss of $40,000. The insurance was $10,000. The fire is supposed to have been started accidentally by drunken men who were gambling. Two thousand dollars' worth of plate glass was destroyed on the west side of the street, and it was by the hardest work that the spread of the fire was prevented. The town has no fire protection.

Pseudo-Classical Terminology.

Herbert H. Asquith, in a recent address, condemned "the uncouth pseudo-classical terminology of men of science, the tortuous and nebulous phrases of modern philosophers, the pretentious conventionalities of the art critic and the slipshod slapdash of the newer school of journalists."

Three Killed by Powder Explosion.

Davy, W. Va., Nov. 11.—John Isaacs and Homer Frowbell, white, and Tom Coleman, colored, all miners, were killed near here by the accidental explosion of several kegs of powder in a shanty.

Contagion About a Pin.

The swallowing of a pin is less to be dreaded than the contagion that may lurk about the pin. Under its head and about the point of a pencil a whole multitude of disease germs may lurk, which being given entrance to the mouth, from there soon infect the whole body, thus causing illness, or perhaps even death.—Chicago News.

George Eliot's Rate of Speed.

George Eliot is said to have written "Middlemarch" in four months. Some doubt is thrown upon this statement by the fact that she commonly worked slowly, writing with great care and deliberation, and making few erasures after her work was done.

Muscular Insects.

Beetles are the strongest insects. A horned beetle has been known to move a two-and-a-quarter-pound letter weight—that is, 315 times its own weight.
